

Nimm

Nimm combines superb ergonomics and strength to create a light, stylish, minimal form. The steam bent back support gives total unrestricted support for the sitter, whilst being strong and flexible. Function and form are taken to a higher level. The twin rear post seating platform design, previously used in the Minchair form and the larger sculptural piece 'Once Upon a Time', is now developed and refined into a domestic pattern, suitable for dining chairs or an office desk chair with the warmth and natural charm of beautifully styled native hardwood. The art of craftsmanship re-invented & re-interpreted for the discerning chair connoisseur.

Available in small batch and limited production runs.
